(a) he has not applied for or received a refund of contributions under section 13; and

(b) he is not otherwise disqualified for the payment of a pension under this Act.

10. Where a person was a legislator on the 21st September, 1981 or became or becomes a legislator after that date, and ceases to be a legislator without qualifying for pension under section 5 but has served as a legislator for periods amounting in the aggregate to not less than five years or for one full parliamentary term of not less than four years, he shall be entitled to be paid a gratuity equal to one-fourth of the total salary earned during his period of service as a legislator:

Provided that a sum equal to five per centum of the salary paid to the legislator for each year of service shall be deducted as contributions from the gratuity payable under this section.

11.-(1) Where a person was not a legislator on 21st September, 1981 and did not become a legislator after that date but was a legislator at any time during the period commencing from the 25th March, 1954 to 20th September, 1981 he shall be entitled to receive gratuity as specified in subsection (2) of this section provided the following conditions are satisfied-

(2) At the expiration of the period referred to in subsection (1) during which a person has further service as a legislator, the rate of pension shall be recalculated in accordance with the provisions of section 8.

(3) Where a pension is recalculated pursuant to subsection (2) and the person entitled thereto opts to receive such pension by way of a gratuity and a reduced pension, then, in calculating the amount of such gratuity, there shall be deducted therefrom any amount already paid to such person by way of gratuity in respect of the pension the payment of which was suspended under subsection (1).

(2) A widow’s allowance under this section-

(a) shall be paid monthly in arrears in equal installments as far as possible;

(3) Where the rate of widow’s allowance exceeds the rate of pension or the rate of salary, as the case may be, nothing in paragraph (b) of subsection (2) shall prevent the payment of the widow’s allowance to the extent of such excess.
